The following itineraries provide some suggestions on how to plan and divide your time in Killarney. Take inspiration, mix and match the suggested activities and design your own bespoke holiday...

Five Day ITINERARY

Day One – Muckross House and Gardens

Where better to unwind after your travels than in the serene soundings of Muckross House and Gardens. You can walk, cycle or take a jaunting cart around this incredible section of Killarney National Park. Tours of the house are available all year round and the gardens are spectacular no matter what the season. Nearby Torc Waterfall and Muckross Abbey can be accessed through the grounds of Muckross House, simply leave ample time for exploration. Pack a picnic or grab a bite at the visitor centre.

Day Two – Climb a Mountain

Killarney Valley is surrounded by beautiful mountains which range in their degree of difficulty. At the easier end of the spectrum stands Torc and Strickeen and the degree of difficulty increases from there. Carrauntoohil is Ireland's highest mountain, it's a hugely rewarding day out but its level of difficulty should not be underestimated. Our advice... to truly enjoy the experience hire the expertise of a local guide.

Day Three – Spa Day

Reward your weary body after your previous tough day's climb with a trip to one of Killarney's award-winning spas. The Angsana Spa at The Brehon is the European flagship of The Banyan Tree. This means that all their therapists have trained in The Banyan Tree Spa Academy in Thailand making it well worth a visit. This spa also has a pool with hydrotherapy jets, sauna, steam room, ice fountain, tropical shower and kubledusche.

Day Four – Ring of Kerry

Killarney is the perfect base to explore the Ring of Kerry, opt to self-drive or take one of the many bus tours which depart daily. Its 180km long so best to leave early, we advise you drive anti-clockwise, travelling first to the town of Killorglin. The spectacular Skellig Ring, which detours off the Ring of Kerry, is incredible and very worthwhile, but it will add significantly to the length of your drive.

Day Five – Falconry

The awesome white-tailed eagle was recently reintroduced to Killarney National Park. These incredible birds of prey are a sight to behold, but not everyone is lucky enough to catch a glimpse. A reliable alternative is a day out with Killarney Falconry. A hawk walk is a pleasant stroll through Killarney with a falconer and his hawk.
